

First-time CPA Licensure

A Roadmap

CalCPA has developed this brochure to inform candidates about the general format and administration of the Uniform CPA Exam. Certain information in the brochure is only applicable to exam candidates in California. Since state regulations vary, candidates are encouraged to apply to sit for the exam in the state in which they plan to practice. Anyone planning to take the Uniform CPA Exam should regularly review the information posted to the websites listed below for updates.

Information compiled from AICPA, California Board of Accountancy and National Association of State Boards of Accountancy.

Questions and Answers

What do I need to become a licensed CPA in California?

You will need to meet the education requirements for licensure, pass all four sections of the Uniform CPA Exam, pass the Professional Ethics Exam for CPAs (PETH), complete one year of general accounting experience under the supervision of an actively licensed CPA, at least 500 hours of attest experience under the supervision of a licensed CPA (optional) and submit all necessary forms and fees to the California Board of Accountancy, including fingerprinting, a photograph and the criminal conviction disclosure form. Note: A minimum of 500 hours of attest experience is necessary to be able to sign an attest or audit engagement of any kind. Candidates can complete their 500 attest hours during the initial licensing process. Individuals licensed with only the general experience can earn their attest experience and submit it to the CBA at a later date.

No, the specified courses are applied to the total 150 semester unit requirement.

Do Advanced Placement (AP) courses count towards the education requirement?

Yes, AP units count towards the total education requirement of 150 semester units if they are included on the official transcript(s) being sent to the California Board of Accountancy.

If I'm not sure whether I meet the education requirements will CalCPA or the CBA review or pre-approve my transcripts?

No, CalCPA cannot approve or verify transcripts, only the CBA has the authority to approve transcripts. The CBA will not review or preapprove transcripts prior to the submission of a complete application. To help candidates address whether or not they meet the education requirements, the CBA has a self-assessment worksheet available on their website calcpa.org/self-assess.

What if I received my education outside the U.S.?

You will need to have your transcripts evaluated by a California Board of Accountancy approved foreign credential evaluation service to determine whether or not you meet the education requirements for licensure. A list of approved foreign credential evaluation services can be found at www.dca.ca.gov/cba/applicants/foreign.pdf.

What qualifies as general accounting experience?

General accounting experience includes providing any type of service or advice involving the use of accounting, attest, compilation, management advisory, financial advisory, tax or consulting skills.

General accounting experience must be completed under the direct supervision of an actively licensed CPA.

How is the general experience calculated and verified?

Applicants must provide the CBA with satisfactory evidence of having completed a minimum of 12 months of general full-time accounting experience under the supervision of an actively licensed CPA. Verification will be documented on the appropriate experience form which can be downloaded on the CBA website.

If I work part time, does my experience qualify toward the one year of general accounting experience requirement?

Yes, the CBA considers 170 hours of part-time employment to be equivalent to one month of full-time employment.

Do I have to wait until after I pass the Uniform CPA Exam to get my general accounting experience or attest experience?

No, there is no time requirement on when you complete your experience. Therefore, you can do it before, during or after the exam process. However, if your experience was earned five or more years prior to the submission of your licensure application, the CBA may require that you take some continuing education courses.

Does my general accounting experience have to be completed in a public accounting firm?

No, you can meet the general accounting experience requirement while working in private industry or government.

Does my general accounting experience have to be completed in California?

No, you can meet the general accounting experience outside of California, but written verification is required from the out-of-state licensing body from which the CPA has their license. The CBA will send you a verification form that must be mailed to the out-of-state licensing body.

What qualifies as attest experience?

Attest experience must include the planning of an audit, including: the selection of the procedures to be performed; applying a variety of auditing procedures and techniques to the usual and customary financial transactions included in financial statements; experience in the preparation of audit workpapers; experience in the preparation of written explanations and comments on the work performed on its findings; and experience in the preparation of and reporting on full disclosure financial statements.

Does my 500 hours of attest experience qualify toward my one year of general accounting experience?

Yes.

Do I have to complete my attest experience to apply for licensure?

No. You do not need to have attest experience to be licensed in California, however you will not be able to sign reports on attest engagements. If you chose to do this type of work after you have been licensed, you will need to earn your attest experience and submit a new application.

Will there be any limitations on my license if I do not complete my attest experience?

Without attest experience you will not be able to sign reports on attest engagements, but you will be able to do everything else that a CPA is able to do.

Will I need a Social Security number to apply for CPA licensure in California?

A valid U.S. Social Security Number (SSN) or an Individual Taxpayer Identification Number (ITIN).
